Description

An impressive and unique silver nine-light candelabrum made by the prominent 20th century silversmith, Gerald Benney. The largest and heaviest piece of Benney silver known to exist.

The silver candelabrum is formed as seven thistle stems converging to form a sphere of thorns, then spreading out to the nine nozzles in the shape of stylised thistle flowers, all set on a filled ring base. The drip-pans are removable to aid cleaning.

This impressive candelabrum is not available to purchase online. Please get in touch if you would like more information or are interested to buy it.
