Description

This set of hand-forged Rattail pattern silver cutlery was made by the Goldsmiths & Silversmiths Co of London in 1902-1907, and it is in excellent original condition. All pieces of flatware are of a heavy gauge of silver, so will provide at least another century of use, if looked after.

Rattail is the oldest of the English designs dating from the early 1700s with the distinctive rat tail on the backs of the spoon bowls and forks. This feature developed in an age when craftsmen made spoons in two pieces joining the bowl and the handle together by means of soldering using a tapered tail as additional strength to the joint. This design also features a prominent rib down the front of the handle and continues to be a popular design to the present day.
