Victorian hand-engraved wine jug with silver mounts

George Fox

Sold

REF: 7209

Height: 285 mm (11.22")

Description

Handsome example of an antique Victorian wine jug. Made by one of the best silversmiths of the era, this piece incorporates fine glass engraving and excellent hand-chased decorations on the silver mounts.

The teardrop-shaped, hand-blown glass body is adorned with etched grapes and vines while the scroll handle features cast leaf mounts, and a silver apron decorated with sections of strapwork, beading and bellflowers. The decoration continues on the pedestal base with a silver leaf and bead pattern border protecting the glass foot.
