Description

Smart Art Deco cocktail shaker in silver plate with a plain round tapering body and panelled shoulder. The lid rim is decorated with a subtle ribbed pattern. The silver-plated cocktail shaker is made up of three parts; the beaker or can, top section with built-in strainer and pull-off lid that seals the shaker at the critical moment.

Art Deco was a popular design style in the 1920s and 1930s characterised especially by sleek geometric or stylised forms. It represented luxury, glamour, exuberance, and faith in social and technological progress. For that reason silver cocktail and barware were popular categories of goods to reflect the style of the time.
