Description

This is an excellent set of antique hand-forged Old English Thread pattern sterling silver cutlery made by George Adams, one of the finest cutlery silversmiths of the 19th century. All pieces are double-struck signifying that the design is struck on the front and back of each piece, necessitating a heavier gauge of silver and therefore a sign of quality.

The spoon bowls and fork tines are all strong, and the hard-soldered knives weighted. Altogether a set that is in extremely good condition and suitable for daily use.

This Old English variant was first made in the 1760s but became popular in the 1780s and is still made today. The reverse is double threaded and it makes a lovely variation to the Old English pattern. Its classic simplicity makes Old English Thread a consistently popular choice to fit seamlessly into both traditional or modern settings.

12 tablespoons
12 table forks
12 dessert spoons
12 dessert forks
8 teaspoons

Since antique silver knives rarely survive, this sterling silver cutlery service is completed with 12 pairs of modern table and dessert knives with Old English Thread pattern sterling silver handles and stainless steel blades, meaning they are safe to put in the dishwasher.

This set of Old English Thread cutlery is not available to purchase online. Please get in touch if you would like more information or are interested to buy it.
