Description

Handmade antique sterling silver bachelor teapot. With its pear-shaped panelled body and spout, and domed and panelled cover, this silver teapot is a recreation of a pattern first made popular during the reign of Queen Anne circa 1708

The pot is fitted with a fruitwood handle - probably apple or pear - and is fitted with a cast panelled swan neck spout that pours perfectly; no drips!

Capacity 1 pint; enough for four good cups of tea.

Weight given includes the handle.
