Description

Set of six modern, heavy-gauge, silver half-pint mugs, made in the classic bellied form that was first made popular in the 1760s during the reign of George III. Each sits on a spreading circular base and the handles also feature traditional leaf-pattern thumbpieces.

Their simplicity of styling makes them perfect for personalising by engraving names or numbers, or any other images.

It was well known that Sir Winston Churchill drank his favourite Pol Roger Champagne from a silver half pint mug every day throughout his life.
